Dieterich Writes Magazine Article

"The High School Principal and Public Relations" Is Title of His Paper.

The American School Board Journal, for September, carries an article entitled "The High School Principal and Public Relations," which was written by Herbert R. Dieterich, principal of the College high school.

Last year, Mr. Dieterich, who was on leave of absence from the College, to study at Ohio State University, was connected with the department of school administration of that school as student assistant and as instructor in some classes in education administration in the graduate school.

In the above mentioned article Mr. Dieterich mentions the importance of the development of a program of publicity, the Principal's Annual report, the pupil as the channel of publicity, the faculty as the channel of publicity, school publications in the program, the exhibit as a factor, social contacts of the school staff and the co-operation with the local newspaper.

Concerning the co-operation with the local newspaper, Mr. Dieterich says: "No well planned program of public relations can neglect that most important agent in forming public opinion, the city newspaper. Newspapers devote columns of space each week to school news. The administrator must co-operate with the press, if he expects co-operation from the press. Reporters are desirous of getting things first hand and, if certain parts of the school system are closed to their inspection or if the administrator attempts to dictate the school news which should be printed, he will soon find himself opposed rather than supported in his school program."

"Newspapermen know what is of most interest to readers and will wish to visit schools and classrooms to find that news which is of most interest to the parent and the general public."

"The open-door policy" will win and hold the co-operation of the newspapers. Certainly there are times when the papers will ask the administrator for his interpretation of technical material.

"The wise principal co-operates courteously with the newspaper staff not only in order that the school may receive publicity, but that the public may receive the news as well."

College Brevities

Miss Lucille Brumbaugh will be back at her duties as assistant librarian this year. During the summer Miss Brumbaugh spent several weeks taking advanced library work at the School of Library Service in New York City. Her home is at Maitland.

Donald and Carroll Gillis who were in school here at the College last year will be in Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, Texas, next year. The Gillis family will move from Cameron to Fort Worth where Mr. Gillis will work in the postoffice.

Donald says that his brother who won a district essay contest on prohibition last year here in the College, has been directing the Cameron town band this summer, while he has been pushing a bean wagon around town for a grocery store.

This fall tickets for all of the Missouri University football games may be secured through any Western Union Telegraph office according to Mr. C. L. Brewer, athletic director, in a recent announcement.

Ralph D. Shrewsbury who was in school at the College in 1922-23 and '24 and who has since taught commerce in Flat River, for six years, is now teaching at the Hadley Vocation High School, in St. Louis. Mr. Shrewsbury has taken some of his commercial work at Washington University, in St. Louis, this year.

Lynn Mahan, a former student at the College who was graduated from the University of Missouri, last year with a degree in journalism, is with a publicity or news service company in St. Louis, this year.

Gordon Roach, a graduate of the College will teach commerce in the Hadley Vocation High School in St. Louis again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Garrett and children, spent some of their vacation, in August, at Fulton. Mr. Garrett is instructor in biology at the College.

Hubert Garrett, of the College faculty will teach extension classes in Livingston, Caldwell, De Kalb and Platte counties this year.

Miss Mary Keith, instructor in the College training school, reports that she has been in Southeast Missouri recently for a few days' vacation.

Miss Nell Hudson and Miss Mable Clair Winburn have been busy every day in the main office of the administration building during the intermission of summer school and the opening of the fall term.

Except for a few days vacation in the Ozarks, President Lamkin has been on the job getting things lined up for the opening of the 1931-32 year of school.

Helen Busby, a student at the College, has been employed in the office of the Registrar during the August vacation period.

John C. Snyder, a former student of the College whose home is in Fairbury, Neb., was in Maryville for a short time in August. Mr. Snyder has his M. A. degree from Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, and this year expects to complete work for his Ph. D. degree in horticulture, at Iowa State College at Ames, Ia. Mr. Snyder did outstanding work in Nebraska, teaching viticulture and agriculture.

Miss Elizabeth White, elementary and rural school specialist, who is instructor and extension worker for the College, spent a few days' vacation at her home in Nevada, Mo. Miss White's mother went with her. This year they have an apartment at 520 North Buchanan street.

When entering the central library building on the campus of the University of California at Berkeley, Calif., this summer, Stephen G. LaMar met Clella Le Hew, a former student of the College. Clella is doing graduate work at Berkeley, which is located across the bay from San Francisco, Calif.

Raymond Mitzel, of Sedalia, a junior in the College, will again, among other duties, be juggling the mimeograph machines in room 210 this year. Mitzel, who was a member of the successful track team last spring, is also out for football.

Studies in Harvard

E. W. Mounce, head of the Commerce department of the College, spent five weeks during the latter part of the summer, taking advanced commerce courses in the graduate school of commerce at Harvard University. Mr. and Mrs. Mounce recently have spent some of their vacation visiting with friends and relatives at Chillicothe, and at St. Louis.

The President Says

If, as said last week, the curriculum of yesterday was not sufficient for the teacher in tomorrow's Missouri, the College is wise in making frequent changes in requirements for the preparation of teachers.

Two major changes appear in the latest catalog. The requirement of a foreign language for persons majoring in social science is removed, and four courses in science, each carrying two and one-half hours credit, especially organized for those preparing for teaching in the elementary school, are announced.

It may be questioned as to whether the study of a foreign language is less desirable than in former years. The world is nearer together. It will shrink still more in the next few years. But a number of Graduate Schools have dropped that requirement for graduate work. No other Teachers College in Missouri requires it. The demand on the time of Social Science majors was insistent, and the requirement was removed.

The action of the faculty in regard to the study of science emphasizes their belief that teachers should have some knowledge of the fundamental sciences if they are to teach children for tomorrow. The four courses, following the example set in allowing three minors on the degree for teaching in the elementary school instead of a major and a minor, will cover a wider range than the requirement for High School teachers of five hours of biological and five hours of physical science provides. Laboratory work will be minimized but the coursework should prove as interesting to students as the information obtained will prove valuable.

The College will continue to change its curriculum to meet new conditions as they arise.

UEL W. LAMKIN.

Mlle. de Kika Tells of French Life and Customs

Mlle. Sophie de Kika is among the new faculty members at Maryville S. T. C. this year. She was born in Paris where she attended school in the Lycée Lemaitre and received her diploma des Professeurs de Français a l'etranger from Sorbonne.

Mlle. de Kika says that there are many differences between the French and the American people. The characteristic of the American people to desire the new is not to be found among the French. The older a thing becomes, the higher it is prized by the French. Methods of serving food vary greatly in the two countries. In France, dressing is never served on salads while here that is the last note of perfection to most of our salads. Governors are common in the French homes of the higher classes.

"The French people," Mlle. de Kika relates, "are very practical but at the same time very artistic. Many people who visit Paris do not see the typical Frenchmen. They see only the highlights of Paris. The real Frenchmen in their homes are very reserved. They do not extend invitations to people to visit them until they are very well acquainted with them."

There are three classes in France: the peasants, petite Bourgeois and Haute Bourgeois. People from one class rarely mix with those of another. Very little of the aristocracy is to be found there today. The French never spend beyond what they earn. Not only do they not spend beyond their economic limitations, but they put aside savings each year in their bas de laine or woolen stocking.

When asked about the social life of the young people, Mlle. de Kika said, "The young people have a great deal of social life according to their class. It is to be that boys and girls were never seen together, but now they quite often go together accompanied by a chaperone. There is no place for sports in the University program in France; stress is laid on scholarship. Languages are specially important."

Mlle. de Kika says that she is greatly impressed with the friendliness of the American people. She stated that she likes Maryville and is enjoying the college life here.

Missourian News Should Be Left on Desk in Room 212

College students, or teachers who have news items or announcements for the Northwest Missourian should leave them in room 212 on Mr. LaMar's desk just inside the door.

The deadline for the items is 3:00 o'clock Monday each week. Items should be turned in before this time each week if possible since articles turned in at the last minute may not get in the paper until the following week. Whether or not a last minute article gets in the paper depends on the amount of time it takes to get the copy ready for the linotype and the available space.

Residence Hall Is a Busy Place

Lull of Vacation Weeks Gives Way to Wide Variety of Student Activities.

Shouts of laughter again echo from Residence Hall after a lull during the vacation weeks. Colorful cretonnes, bright cushions, and numerous little nick-nacks show the efforts that the girls have put forth to fix their rooms attractively.

The "buzzer" feels that for it this will be a "hard year" due to the numerous personal and telephone calls that come for the girls who live in Residence Hall.

The usual hurry just before eight o'clock has been in evidence the past week.

Should one chance to enter the dorm during the social hour he will see groups of students engaged in visiting, dancing, bridge or reading. The students are given the privilege of dancing each evening during the week from 7 to 8 with the exception of Friday and Saturday nights when they may dance from 7 until 10:30.

Miss Winifred Brennan, the new business director at Residence Hall, received her degree from the University of Montana where she later acted as director of dormitories.

Paper Devoted to School News Begun in King City

"Missouri School News," is the name of a four page five column paper founded August, 1931 at King City Mo. The paper is to be devoted to news of Missouri Schools and Missouri Teachers, for Missouri Schools and Missouri Teachers.

Former students of the College have charge of the monthly paper which is to be printed on the Plattsbury Leader press, at Plattsbury, Missouri. The editor is Miss Essie Ward, while the assistant editors are Iva Ward Manley and Elvira Ward Watson.

Wilbur B. Pettigrew, who finished his major in speech at the College last spring and who is now instructor in speech and director of debate in the high school at Shenandoah, Ia., was a guest at the Sigma Mu Delta house last Wednesday night. He has twenty-eight students in one speech class and so far has enrolled twenty-five in his debate squad, he said. He was here to secure an assembly speaker from the College faculty.

Cecile Gist, speech major and newly appointed student director of dramatics in charge of the Dramatic Council, was the Sunday dinner guest of Professor and Mrs. Orville C. Miller in their new home on North Mulberry.

The department of speech continues to grow, having this year the largest number of enrollments in its class since its organization as a separate department two years ago. It has also been revealed this year that speech is becoming more and more popular as a major subject, according to Mr. Miller who is in charge of the department.

Correction

An article carried in the Northwest Missourian last week, may have left the impression with some that Dr. H. A. Foster, chairman of the Social Science Department of the College had not completed the work for his Ph. D. degree until this last summer. Dr. Foster completed the work for his Ph. D. degree in October, 1929 at Leland Stanford University in California. During the last summer while he was in Chicago, he was expanding his Ph. D. thesis with the intention of publishing it in the form of a book.

STROLLER

Since excess credit is to be given for E grades the Stroller is afraid that the students will not be at the College long enough to get acquainted with each other. Just about the time they get ready to enjoy the usual sophomore and junior sleep they will have completed the necessary 120 hours of college work necessary for their degree and will have to leave school.

Now that "Freshmen Days Are Here Again" (furnish your own accompaniment) all the usual happenings that go therewith are commencing. Hon. Russel Noblett, Councilman from the Junior ward, made it known at assembly last Thursday that there were Freshman rules and that the Freshmen were supposed to observe them, and still further, that the upperclassmen (and Sophomores too) were supposed to enforce them. He read a definition of Hazing (that prohibited unknown of which we have heard so much and know so little) from the rule book regarding student conduct, and the look on his face as well as the tone of his voice made it rather apparent that the student Council didn't exactly consider paddling (of course in a mild form) as a form of very violent bodily injury.

One Freshie, a modest, bashful, and unsuspected one with a Swedish tinge to his hair, when, asked by the Stroller and (in all due respect to that famous Freshman custom and privilege) was asked to "button" forthwith went through the process with the left hand, explaining that he was so left-handed that the south side was the only one that would do the work. Now the Stroller, being of a rather sympathetic nature, and a trifle left-handed himself, made no violent objections, but still feels that the Freshie pulled a little one over on him.

Now that the political campaign season is just in the offing do not be surprised to see candidates passing out all sorts of chewing-gum, candy, etc. It has been rumored that one of the candidates was in favor of an old-fashioned baby-kissing campaign. Oh you babes!

There is an old story on the campus, a story nearly as old as the campus, and deserving of honor. Dan Blood told it nearly a hundred times last year, and this year Tinker Woolsey has been privileged to see that it continues. Let's all start passing it around, especially to the Freshmen, who are not so well acquainted with the "Town" and the working of its staff; "Get your picture taken early."

Gradually, with the presence of the so-called hard times, all the kick is being taken from the time-honored profession of gate-crashing. Football tickets this year are being sold for six-bits, and it appears that in another year or so it wouldn't be worth a tear in a pair of trousers to climb a fence. The Stroller wonders how the upperclassmen expect the freshmen to know what will make them "free" when the Cutting or skipping classes is one of the poorest pieces of business in which a high school or college student can engage. Like other vices it may easily become a costly habit, robbing the student not only of his own self respect but also of the respect of his fellow students and eventually of the respect of his teachers.

In the first place cutting a class without a legitimate excuse is discourteous, disrespectful and annoying to the instructor, who has an appointment at the class hour with his students. This appointment should be kept just as any individual appointment should be kept.

Sometimes the very key note, foundation outline, or a most important link in the chain of a course is given, or explained in a single class recitation or laboratory hour. If a student fails to be present at this class hour he may rob himself of the means of making

Forensic Clubs Meet This Week

First Meetings of Forensic Union, Dramatic and Radio Clubs Announced.

First meetings of the year for the credit-bearing speech activities—the Forensic Union, the Dramatic Club, and the Radio Broadcast Club—have been announced for eleven o'clock on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, respectively. The appointive membership of the Dramatic and Forensic Councils was also announced.

The Forensic Union is NOT a debate club it was explained. It is rather an organization for those desiring to engage in informal spoken discussion of current events and campus, state and national problems. The programs are so arranged that any member may have opportunity to speak several times, if he or she chooses, during each meeting thus gaining much practical experience in public speaking.

The Dramatic Club is devoted to those interested in acting, producing or observing one-act plays. Programs consist of a one-act play, acted in the Little Theatre or read by a platform reader, musical numbers, readings, dance numbers, and talks on the Theatre or its folk. Plans are being made for the broadcast of plays and other speech programs over St. Joseph and Grant City radio stations by the Radio Broadcast Club. Membership in this club is gained only through membership in either the Forensic Union or Dramatic Club. Any who are interested should enroll in the Forensic Union this Wednesday or the Dramatic Club this Thursday at eleven in Social Hall.

Appointed to Council
Students who were recently appointed to the Dramatic Council are: Cecile Gist of Albany, student director of the council, Jerome Smith of Des Moines, Iowa, program chairman, Maxine Wood of Rosendale, secretary-treasurer, Donald Robey of Maryville, extension activities secretary, and Elizabeth Hindman, chairman of social activities. All are majors in the Department of Speech.

The following students were recently appointed on the Forensic Council: Ernest Stalling of Barnard, student director of Forensic Union and chairman of the Council, Marvin Shamberger of Graham, program chairman, Lowell Galt of Shenandoah, Iowa, extension secretary, and Doris Wallace of Maryville, social secretary. A secretary-treasurer is yet to be appointed.

sign concerning the same is over the door through which they are not allowed to enter.

The Stroller thinks perhaps he can tell where the White Leghorn chickens which belong to the College have been going, since he saw T. H. Cook of the College walking around on the campus the other day looking at them, and now he recalls that Mr. Cook keeps a pen of white chickens in his back yard at home.

Will Teach in Kansas City.

Miss Karol Oliphant, who finished her degree in commerce at the College, will teach in the North Kansas City schools this year. Miss Oliphant, whose home is at Cainsville, was secretary to H. T. Phillips, chairman of the education department. She was active in student organizations, being a member of the Green and White Peppers, girl's pep organization and a member of the social sorority, Alpha Sigma Alpha, which organization she had served as president.

normal progress or of obtaining the maximum benefit of the course.

While the wishes or attitude of the instructor should be considered, usually it is much better for a student to come to class late and get the link of the lesson or the assignment notations, than not to come at all.

S. G. L.

Most students have friends or relatives back home who would be greatly pleased to get a card or a letter from them while they are away in College. To send some such greeting, shouldn't cost much money or effort and it might cause the world to seem a little brighter for the friends and for students themselves.

The churches of Maryville and their organizations for young people, provide unusual opportunities for college students to take a part in religious activities, and to enjoy the fellowship found therein. The doors of the churches are open and the bulletin boards of the College are continually bearing announcements inviting College students to have a part in the well planned programs of the church of the students choice.

Mehus Publishes Article on Value of Good Movies

College Instructor's Paper Appears in Teachers' Magazine.

A recent magazine contribution to The High School Teacher by O. Myking Mehus of the College social science department is an article on "Wholesome Motion Pictures." The article appears in the September issue.

With the article appears a list of classical and educational films suitable for schools.

Mr. Mehus writes in part: "Recently I heard a minister say over the radio 'I thank God for the motion pictures.' When we realize that about 20,000,000 people are entertained by the motion pictures every day in the United States we begin to realize that this industry is of tremendous importance for weal or woe. It can be a great moulder of sound character or it can be a blaster of the finer and noblest in life. This is especially true since three-fourths of those who attend movies are under twenty-four years of age according to the estimate of the Federal Trade Commission. This means that 15,000,000 of the younger generation are daily attending our movies. 'The moving picture industry has been trying to defend its output of inferior films by saying: 'We must give the public what it wants.' However, their own figures must show that the public does not want objectionable films for the films that have the longest runs are the films that are wholesome and decent. In comparing the 'Best Payers of 1929' with the film estimates of The Educational Screen we find that of the first fifty best payers, 41 were recommended for adults, 32 were recommended for young people, and 8 were recommended for children; while only three were condemned for adults, eight condemned for young people, and seventeen for children. Of these that were considered inferior in some respects and were consequently indicated as 'possible' or 'perhaps,' there were six adults, ten for young people, and 25 for children.

"Of the second fifty best payers for 1928 18 were recommended for adults, 24 for young people, and 11 for children. As 'possible' recommendations we find 20 for adults, 14 for young people, and 15 for children. While those that were absolutely condemned, 12 were condemned for adults, 12 for young people, and 24 for children.

"About 800 films were produced in 1928. Of this number, 100 were listed as best payers and 700 as poorest payers. We find that the total number of recommendations given by The Educational Screen (three were possible for each film) totaled 48 per cent of the best payers and only 5 per cent of the poorest payers. Seventy-two percent of the films listed as best payers were recommended for at least one of the three classes (adults, youths, and children) while only 17 per cent of the poorest payers were so recommended. Taking each class separately we find that 50 per cent of the best payers were recommended for adults while only 4 per cent of the poorest payers were recommended.

"These figures seem to prove conclusively that it would pay the producers to give the public good films as they are the ones that bring in the most money. In view of these facts it is hard to understand why so many inferior and objectionable films are produced.

"Educators today are realizing as never before the tremendous possibilities of motion pictures from an educational standpoint. This is indicated by the books, pamphlets, and magazine articles that are being written by those who are interested in education.

"Moving pictures should play an important part in modern education. And fortunately there are hundreds of films available for this purpose—films that are strictly educational as well as films that give clean and wholesome recreation. We believe that a motion picture machine is just as necessary a piece of equipment in an up-to-date high school as is a good library or science laboratory.

Personally, we have had charge of moving pictures in schools—in a State Teachers College in North Dakota and in a college in Ohio, and we found that students will attend worthwhile pictures if they are properly selected and advertised." Miss Matile Smock will leave tonight for Des Moines, Ia., where she will spend the winter with her sister Mrs. Lura Mawrer.

Music Instructors Will Give Program Tomorrow Morning

Three members of the College Conservatory of Music faculty will give a program at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at an assembly of the student body. The soloists will be Miss Ruth Morris, violinist; Miss Marjorie Barton, pianist; and H. N. Schuster, tenor. The public is invited to hear this program. Charles R. Gardner, head of the Conservatory, said.

A new member of the music faculty Miss Morris will be heard tomorrow. Miss Morris holds a diploma as concert violinist "with great distinction" from the Cincinnati College of Music. Besides her American musical studies, Miss Morris studied at Fontainebleau, France, under Remy, Paschal, and Boulanger.

Miss Barton's piano selection will be "Scherzo in B flat Minor," by Chopin. Her major studies were taken at the Bush Conservatory of Music at Chicago. Mr. Schuster, who will furnish the vocal numbers for the program is a pupil of Thomas Noble McBurney of Chicago; F. Daddi of the Chicago Opera Co., and Florence and Rudolph Maymes of Chicago.

Senator Robinson Will Support R. D. Johnson

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 22.—(P)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas will speak here Saturday night in behalf of R. D. Johnson of Marshall, Democratic nominee for congress from the seventh Missouri district in the special election September 29 to elect a successor to the late Congressman Sam C. Major Democrat, of Fayette.

Col. James W. Byrnes, St. Louis, president of the Missouri Chapter Against the Prohibition Amendment, will speak at a rally here Friday night for L. L. Collins of Springfield, independent wet candidate. Political leaders here professed to attach significance to Byrnes' willingness to help Collins in opposition to R. D. Johnson, the regular Democratic nominee, since Byrnes has been discussed as a potential candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator in 1932.

Suspected Bank Robber Is Captured at Nixa, Mo.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 22.—(P)—Arrested at Nixa, Mo., last night after he allegedly had attempted to shoot the town marshal, a man giving his name as Robert Hale was brought to jail here and identified as one of the two robbers who held up the Bank of Safford yesterday afternoon.

Leonard Voletz, cashier of the bank, said Hale was the man who "covered" him. He also identified part of the $818.50 found on Hale as money taken in the robbery, and said a revolver found on the suspect was the same as used in the holdup. Two men obtained approximately $18000 in the holdup. They looked Cashier Voletz, who was alone at the time, in the vault and fled in a small motor car.

No More Neuritis

in Arms, Neck, Legs or Thighs

If you want to get rid of the agonizing pains of neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism, just apply Tylenol to the affected parts and see how quickly all misery will cease.

Tylenol is a powerfully penetrating absorbent, soothing and healing in its action, which goes in through the pores and quickly reaches the burning, aching nerves. These stubborn pains in the back of the neck, about the shoulder blade, face or head, in the forearm and fingers, or extending down the thigh to the toe tips, will soon disappear. Cramping of the muscles will stop and you will no longer be bothered with soreness, swelling, stiffness, numbness or tenderness of the joints and ligaments.

Tylenol is not an ordinary anesthetic or saline, but a scientific new emollient that is entirely different from anything you have ever used. Don't suffer any longer. Get a supply of Tylenol at any good drug store. Always on hand at Maryville Drug Co.

MISSOURI MINERS STRIKE

Walk-Out at Lexington Follows 25 Per Cent Pay Cut.

Lexington, Mo., Sept. 22.—(P)—Members of the local organization of the United Mine Workers of America declared a strike last night to resist a proposed 25 per cent reduction in wages by the Western Coal and Mining company.

Union officials said the cut would reduce the daily wage from $5 to $3.75 and that workers had been given no assurance of regular employment. A message was drafted and sent to President Hoover urging him to send a government representative here for an investigation.

Mrs. Carl Wray of Guilford returned Thursday evening from Rochester where she has been in the hospital for the past six weeks. She came Sunday to spend a few days with her daughter, Mrs. John Kurtz and Mr. Kurtz.

Britain's Action Is Expected to Aid Business Recovery

Washington, Sept. 22.—(P)—The American government regards Great Britain's temporary suspension of the gold standard as likely to improve economic conditions in England and elsewhere in the world.

This was made clear today in highest quarters. The position was taken that the actual suspension could not be regarded as serious as had been the constant possibility of this action.

So far as the United States is concerned, it may bring a stronger competition in certain exports where American business is in competition with British products.

This amounts to about ten percent in such countries as the Argentine, where surveys recently were made.

The British action is looked upon by this government as the adoption of a variable standard rather than the complete abandonment of the gold standard.

Ralph Melton Is Jailed on Bad Check Charge

Ralph Melton pleaded guilty before J. F. Roslofson in justice court to giving a bad check to the Smith Dry Goods company for $5, and was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail. He was also fined the costs of the case which amounted to $10.50. Melton was arrested on information filed by Virgil L. Rathbun, prosecuting attorney, and was sentenced to the jail term because of having been in the county jail before. It is also part of Mr. Rathbun's new policy of making bad check writers serve time in jail rather than accepting a fine and costs.

Try this on Your McCORMICK DEERING — or What Have You?

Set aside your morning's milking to cool until you come in from the fields at noon. Insert a thermometer into the can and learn the accurate temperature; then stir the milk and put it through your cream separator.

After you have finished separating, take out a generous sample of the milk you have just skimmed and have the local creamery test it. If your cream separator is a McCormick-Deering the amount of butterfat remaining in the skim milk will be much less than if the milk had been separated by any other cream separator under like conditions.

We are not guessing about this; actual tests all over the country have shown that the McCormick-Deering Ball-Bearing Cream Separator will skim tures, and skim more efficiently. This outstanding McCormick-Deering owner's pocket.

If you would rather have us conduct a cold milk skimming test for you, ask us to bring a new McCormick-Deering Ball-Bearing Cream Separator to your farm any day that you can have the cold milk ready for us. If you have an old machine, we'll try the test on it too; we are glad of every opportunity to prove to our friends the great superiority of the McCormick-Deering Cream Separator.

The line of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College Bearcats, including almost all of the men who are still out for practice, averages a little better than 180 pounds, while the backfield, of which there are twelve, averages about 175 pounds. This figures up a team average of about 178 pounds, although Coaches E. A. Davis and H. P. Iba can put a team onto the field that will average about 185 pounds to the man.

Included in the squad are fifteen lettermen from last year and the year before. One letterman, Robert Perkins, an end, is unable to come out for the team this year on account of a class which he must take in order to graduate. In addition to the loss of this letterman the 1931 Bearcat squad has lost several promising candidates who have to find work in order to go to school. Among these are Ross Shelton, a backfield man and the Parker brothers, Wayne and Wilbert, one of whom is a guard, and the other a back.

This is the way the 1931 Bearcats stack up:

7 win over the Cubs. Hal Schumacher went the route for the winners, while five Chicago flingers had little success.

Strong Skidmore Five

School's Cage Prospects Are Bright This Year.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Daily Forum presents in this issue the third of its short features on the various Nodaway county high school basketball teams. The team presented today is the Skidmore high school coached by Dean D. Johnson.

The prospects for a basketball team at Skidmore high school this fall are much more promising than it was last year. Coach Dean D. Johnson has seven lettermen back in addition to some twenty-five other men who are working for places on the team.

The lettermen back for the team are Kenneth Ruffel, Wayne Winger, Harold Hill and Carl Ward, forwards; Dick King, center, and John Ashbrook and Rolland Bodle, guards. With these seven men are three second-string men from last year's squad who are showing up nicely. They are Ernest Lincoln, Richard Reakecker and Howard Hitchcock. Lincoln and Reakecker, both lengthy lads, are trying out for center and forward positions, while Hitchcock is showing up well as a guard. With these men are a large number of promising freshmen, who, although they may not develop this year, will tend to form a strong team for coming years.

At present Coach Johnson has scheduled but six games, all of which are with members of the Nodaway County Outdoor Basketball League. One of these games has been played, Skidmore defeating Quitman, 10 to 6. The remaining games call for Burlington to play at Skidmore September 25, Skidmore to play at Clearmont October 2, Clearmont to be at Skidmore on October 9, Skidmore to play at Burlington Junction October 16, and Quitman to play at Skidmore on October 23.

New Boxing Law Permits Decisions in Missouri Bouts

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—(AP)—For the first time in many years, decision will be given in boxing bouts here tomorrow night.

The first show in St. Louis under the revised state boxing law, which recently became effective, will be staged at the arena and will feature Eddie Shea, Chicago, and Midget Mike O'Dowd, Columbus, Ohio, featherweights, in a ten-round bout.

In addition to allowing decisions, the revised law permits 15-round bouts, whereas the old no-decision law limited them to ten rounds. Lou Terry and Sammy Ward, St. Louis lightweights, are down for a 15-rounder, billed for the Missouri lightweight championship.

Other bouts will bring together Babe Ruth, Louisville, Ky., and Johnny (Pee-wee) Kaiser, St. Louis, featherweights, ten rounds; and Jimmy Sayers, Lafayette, Ind., and Dave Barry, Springfield, Ill., bantamweights, also for ten rounds.

Under the new law, decisions will be given by the referee and two judges, all appointed by the state boxing commission.

A CRY OF DISTRESS—Save me, O God, by thy name, and judge me by thy strength. Hear my prayer, O God, give ear to the words of my mouth.—Psalm 54: 1, 2.

A NIGHT'S EPISODE

"Here I am, here I am," he cried, and motioned to a waiting car to carry him away to freedom.

"How'd you do it?" they asked of the nattily dressed young man, who appeared as though he had emerged from a tonsorial shop rather than the jail.

"Oh, that was easy. Just told those jail birds in there if they squawked I'd drill them full of holes, and then cut out the floor, dropped through and walked out of the basement door."

"Hah, quite a joke on the law," said Bill's accomplices as they sped away in the night to unknown parts as we heard four of the law were guarding the front door of the jail."

And thus ended another night's episode and a successful jail escape.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

MODERN FINANCE.

Kansas City Times

The findings of the Missouri public service commission's audit of the Empire District Electric Company, a Doherty public utility, technical though they necessarily are, have an important bearing on the rate structure of the company. They disclose the burden on the consumers' rates imposed by the financial methods employed in building up and operating this company—even though the company's earnings, on its own statement, are not excessive.

The audit shows claims by the company of an investment of 25 million dollars, whereas the engineering department of the public service commission estimates the investment at approximately 15 million dollars for property "used and useful in the public service." Cost of reproduction is set by the engineers at 18 million.

Of great interest are the auditors' findings on certain expenses of the Empire company which are charged against the consumers in the rate structure. Included in these are the "engineering" and "management" fees paid to Henry L. Doherty & Co. Engineering fees totaling nearly $400,000 have been found by the auditors. They point out that the Empire company has its own engineers and construction superintendents who supervise construction work, and that when Doherty employees are at work on Empire properties, separate additional charges are made by Henry L. Doherty & Co. "for the per diem and expenses of such employees." The auditors comment:

Except for the formal offer of Henry L. Doherty & Co., before referred to (an offer to furnish engineering, administrative and other services), there are no records on file in Joplin showing the details of any services performed by Henry L. Doherty & Co. for which these engineering fees are paid, nor the cost of performing such services. It is our opinion that fees of this nature paid by public utilities to affiliated companies should be limited to the actual cost of necessary services actually rendered, without any profit to the affiliated companies; also that such fees should not be in excess of payments for similar services; and also that full details concerning such fees and the services rendered should be entered and permanently kept in the records of the public utilities. In view of the foregoing we are unable to accept these payments as proper charges to the plant and investment accounts.

As to the "management" fee of 1% per cent of the gross revenues of the Empire company paid with certain deductions to Henry L. Doherty & Co., the auditors make similar objections. They allow payments for services actually rendered which are charged in addition to the management fee. But they are unable to determine from the records of the Empire "what services have been rendered to it in return for said fee." Therefore they have "eliminated said management fee" from the operating expenses of the company. For the year ending September 30, 1930, the management fee paid to Henry L. Doherty & Co., was approximately $61,000.

The auditors also criticize the use of funds from the Empire company to pay its employees for buying Cities Service stock, on the ground that it was the Cities Service Company, not the Empire, which benefited. They criticize, too, the use of Empire employees paid by the Empire company, for selling Cities Service stock.

The recommendations of the auditors are not final. They must be passed on by the public service commission. But their analysis of the methods used in acquiring and managing of the Empire District properties is an illuminating exposition of modern finance.

GUILTY LIPS

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of "MAD MARRIAGE" SIGNED BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Pretty NORMA KENT, 20-year-old secretary in a law office, sees MARK TRAVERS for the first time when together they rescue a puppy from downtown traffic in Marlboro, middle-western metropolis. Norma declines to tell Travers her name or where he can see her again.

BOB FARRELL, young lawyer, asks Norma to marry him and she refuses though she is fond of him as a friend. Norma takes the puppy to the shabby apartment she shares with CHRISTINE SAUNDERS. She fears Chris is falling in love with her married employer, BRADLEY HART, proprietor of an advertising agency. Next day Norma inserts an advertisement about the puppy in the lost and found column of the Marlboro Press. The first person to answer this advertisement is Mark Travers. He tries to make a date but Norma declines his invitations. Travers departs and later goes with NATALIE PRICE, wealthy debutante, on a gay round of the night clubs.

Next evening a small boy comes to see Norma, claims the puppy and takes it home. Chris goes to old MINNIE BAKER, an impoverished friend whose 2-year-old son has been badly burned. Norma receives telephone calls from Travers and ignores them. She goes for a drive with Bob Farrell and he tells her he is going to leave Marlboro. Two days later she meets Travers on the street and goes to lunch with him. This is the beginning of a week of whirlwind courtship. Norma finds herself head-over heels in love but thinks she must send Travers away when he asks her to marry him because of some secret of the past. Chris knows this secret, and declares that if Norma loved Travers all else is unimportant. Mark is invited to dinner at the apartment.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 14

The door flew open and Mark Travers, beaming, boomed a greeting from the threshold. In three skips and a leap Norma was in his arms. She was laughing, touching his cheeks with reassuring fingers, raising her lips for his kiss all in one instant. She was aware there was film before her eyes.

"Oh, Mark! I've been such an idiot. I was afraid something had happened!"

"Happened? Well, I should think there has. I'll tell the world something's happened. What do you suppose I've been doing all this time? Listen, baby, we're starting on a honeymoon in exactly two hours. Look—"

One of Mark's hands dived into a pocket and came out with a dangle of unfolding strips of green paper. Railway tickets. He tossed them toward Norma. A second drive and he was displaying more paper. Greenbacks. More of them than the girl had ever seen. They were folded into a huge roll.

"What? Why, where in the world —?" Norma floundered for the words.

Before she could go on Mark had caught her arms and was whirling her into a crazy whirl-i-gig pirouette.

"Don't you hear me, Norma, darling? Don't you understand? We're going places! Come on—we've got just two hours to make the train. Blue Springs Mrs. Travers! How does that strike you? Blue Springs, where the sun shines and skies are almost as blue as your eyes. Riding and bathing and lot of golf. Oh, you'll love it! Blue Springs is the grandest place to play in these United States. You and me, Norma! Why—why, what's the matter? He could not understand the expression in the girl's eyes.

"What's the matter?" Mark repeated. "Don't you want to go to Blue Springs?"

"Of course—only, Mark, do you think we should? I mean do you think right now?"

"Right now? Say, when is it customary to go on a honeymoon? After the ceremony or 15 years later? If there's some place you'd rather go than Blue Springs I suppose I can change the tickets. I was sure you'd like it there!"

"No, no! I don't like it. I'd love it of course. I'd—I'd love any place with you."

She could not endure to see the light of enthusiasm fade from his face. Norma went on, laughing. "Did you say" tion. His estate includes a two-year motion picture contract which calls for $1,300 a week for 80 weeks.

Worcester, Mass.—Lincoln J. Dan drew has won a divorce. She charged: cruelty. She said her husband choked her. "I trumped his ace in a card game," she explained.

They stepped into a taxicab and were whisked away into traffic. Here on either side of the street were familiar buildings and yet everything looked different. Mark's hand pressed the girl's. He stole a quick kiss and made her blush more deeply.

"Happy, kid?"

She assured him to his complete satisfaction that she was. Another 10 minutes and they had arrived before the impressive white stone front of "Fanchon's." Twin show windows exhibited each a single frock. Even the name "Fanchon," on the inconspicuous metal tablet hinted at exclusiveness and expense.

Norma hesitated wondering if she had the courage to enter such a place. Travers had turned to the cab driver. "Wait for us," he instructed.

They went into the store and a black-satin cloth woman came forward to meet them. Somehow Norma made it known that she wanted to buy a traveling dress or perhaps a suit. She was in a fever of self-consciousness, aware of the shabbiness of her costume in comparison with those about her. She thought of the taxicab outside, its meter clicking away dimly and quarters. What a way to shop! Mark's face, smiling, loomed before her and she was reassured.

They bought the traveling suit—a gray tweed with threads of blue in it and snug, trimly fitted collar and cuffs of light-colored kimmer. They selected gray because Mark reminded Norma she had worn gray the first time he saw her. There was a black hat that came down closely over the head but hid none of the glory of the soft-waving hair about her face. It was a beautiful costume and fitted without alteration. Fanchon brought out even shoes and purse and gloves to go with the tweed suit.

The minutes were flying. Norma, getting into her new finery hurriedly, reappeared from the dressing room.

"I'm ready now, Mark!"

He had caught sight of another frock which she must have—an evening dress of lovely draped-colored soft stuff with shoulders dropped like an 1800 belle's and beneath the bouffant skirt a bit of lace-trimmed petticoat.

"Oh, but we don't have time!" the girl protested.

"Is it the right size?" Mark asked the saleswoman.

"It should be. The young lady is so slender. She wears the gowns exactly as they have been created."

"We'll take it," Mark announced.

"Trust to luck it will fit."

"And Madam, what about sports clothes?" suggested the saleswoman emboldened by this wholesale manner of purchasing.

When they finally emerged from Fanchon's barely 15 minutes remained before departure of the train for Blue Springs. Boxes of assorted sizes jostled about them in the taxicab. Mark's roll of bank bills was $425 thinner.

The taxi driver complied with Travers' instruction to "step on it." The cab careened through the crowded streets, turned corners on two wheels, jolted to abrupt, breathtaking stops for traffic signals, and discharged them at last at the cab entrance of the huge railway station.

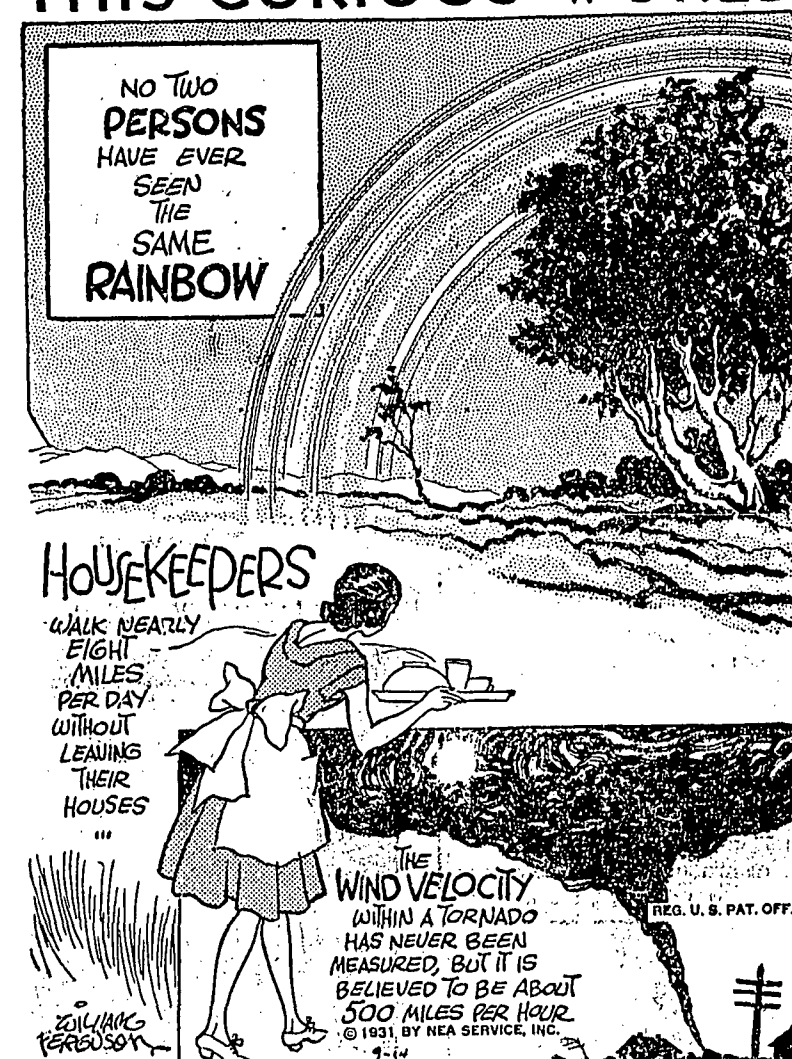

"Fifty seconds to make it!" Mark whistled sharply. "Red cap!" he shouted. "Red cap!"

Two colored boys rushed up and loaded themselves with the packages. Mark

Two colored boys rushed up and loaded themselves with the packages. Mark thrust a bill at the cab driver whose eyes widened as he realized its denomination. Then with the boys in red caps leading Norma and Mark ran pell-mell for the train gates.

A brakeman was shouting "All aboard! All aboard!" for the last time as they swung onto the car. Breathless they floundered to seats in their compartment. The colored boys dropped the luggage and made a swift retreat. The train had begun to move, was gradually gathering speed.

Norma looked at Mark.

"We—we got here!" was all she could manage to gasp. She raised one hand on straighten the little black hat that had been pushed back at a foolish angle in the run for the train.

There came a tap at the door. Mark answered. It was the conductor. Something about the tickets needed to be settled. Only a moment and the couple were alone again.

Norma had discarded the troublesome little hat. Mark helped her out of her coat. Somehow this led to slipping his arms about her, whispering precious nonsense. Norma's hair became badly disarranged but neither of them noticed that.

"Happy, kid?"

It was to become a habit of Mark's during the next few weeks to make that inquiry. As habitually and with emphasis the girl was to answer as she did then:

"Of course!"

Without talking they watched landscape stream past. Mark's arms were about his bride. Her head rested on his shoulder. They had passed the suburbs now and were flying through wooded ravines. The foliage touched by the first frost of October, had begun to show gorgeous tones of gold and scarlet.

"What time is it, Mark?"

"Nearly six. I'll have the porter bring a menu. You'd rather eat here than go into the dining car, wouldn't you?"

She nodded. Instead of summoning the porter, however, both preferred to prolong that perfect interval. The shadows on the countryside grew longer.

Why at that moment of all times should memories she had relentlessly put behind suddenly reappear to plague Norma? She turned away from Mark. What was he saying? She heard the words dimly:

"Oh, there's something I forgot—something important!"

Special Classes For Freshmen at College Arranged

Special class sessions for freshmen at the College, to be held at 3 o'clock every Thursday afternoon and conducted on a new basis having no relationship to the system of freshman problems classes of former years, is in effect this quarter. The freshmen problems' class has been secured in favor of a new plan.

Bert Cooper, business adviser for the freshmen, in announcing the new plan said that this year the students will have a chance to be more thorough. Unlike the old problems classes, the freshmen, all of whom are required to attend the Thursday afternoon meetings, will be graded for the work done. Two quarters are required, with passing grades. No hours credit will be given toward graduation, however. On the same idea as the physical education requirements, it is non-credit but required.

The freshmen, more than two hundred and fifty of them, are divided into two groups. Miss Sharley K. Pike, dean of women, is in charge of one group, and Mr. Cooper has the other. After the first half of the fall quarter has passed they will exchange leadership of groups. After the student has completed two quarters he will be free of the requirement. A student failing to make a grade will be required to attend until he has two quarters with a passing grade.

The classes are designed to aid the freshmen in their knowledge of college requirements, courses of study, habits of study, and other matters which beginning college students should know. The classes at present are taking up the study of requirements for the various degrees and certificates as listed in the official catalog. Next week, Mr. Cooper said, the groups expect to start the discussion of study habits.

On the former plan freshmen met in one large group in the auditorium. There was less discussion on the part of the students, no study responsibilities, as most of the work of the classes were carried on by departmental speakers, largely members of this faculty. Freshmen were not graded.

MARKETS

Big Deliveries of Corn Knock Price Downward

Chicago, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Big deliveries of corn, 2,021,000 bushels, to apply on contracts maturing this month, jolted the corn market down late today to a fresh bottom price record for the season. September corn quotations fell about two cents a bushel. Wheat sympathized with corn weakness, but gave a good account of itself notwithstanding "spread" selling here against purchase at Winnipeg and despite rains where needed over part of the United States winter crop belt.

Corn closed irregular 1 1/2c lower to 1/4c advance, wheat 3/4c to 1/2c up, oats at 1/4c decline to 1/2c gain, and provisions unchanged to 1/2c down.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Wheat averaged higher early today, influenced by sharp upturns in Liverpool quotations and by unfavorable harvest weather in Canada. It was confirmed that Czechoslovakia's grain crops would be 1,000,000 tons below last year. Opening unchanged to 3/4c up, wheat afterward showed gains all around. Corn started 1/2c to 3/4c up and later underwent a general sag.

Caution pervaded grain dealings today. Traders said new ventures were like sailing in uncharted seas. Some buying of wheat was based on comparative steadiness of securities and especially on "advice" that support was in evidence well above yesterday's lows. Bears emphasized reports that Russia was sending large shipments of wheat to Great Britain in an effort to "anticipate" tariff enactments or other import restrictions.

Liquidating sales of December corn contracts acted as a weight on the market. Oats receipts were also a little larger.

Provisions displayed steadiness, despite downturns in hog values.

Legion Marches in Giant Review at Convention

Line, Sixteen Abreast, Is More Than Four Miles in Length.

A Colorful Spectacle

Brilliant Uniforms And Variety of Floats Are Features of Four Hour Demonstration.

Detroit, Sept. 22.—(P)—Memory and martial music brought back the freshness of youth to 100,000 feet today as the American Legion passed in review for the 13th time since its members were mustered out of their country's service.

Shoulders that once ached under pack straps and since have become rounded and stooped over desk and work bench straightened again as the boys of '17 who are the men of '31 heeded the cry of "Forward March."

The line of march was fully four miles long. It started forming at 10:30 a. m. on Jefferson Avenue and Grand Boulevard—three miles from the reviewing stand, and the last units were instructed to report in parade order four hours later. Led by O. L. Bodenheimer of Arkansas, past national commander, the parade moved to the music of nearly 100 bands an drum corps—organizations which came from the far corners of the nation.

Many Brilliant Uniforms
There were no restrictions on devices to put color into the parade, and so it became a mixture of militant patriotism, brilliant pageantry and allegorical floats. Some of the latter were in a serious vein—more appealed to the spectators' sense of humor.

There were uniforms of all colors and descriptions. Shiny helmets, silvery and glided, were in the majority, but every drum major has his gorgeous shako, those buffed pieces of masculine military toward which the sun is merciless. The thousands of Legion members who marched in the body of the parade swung their Legion canes while Legion caps of the overseas style left their heads and faces at the mercy of the elements.

March Sixteen Abreast
A squad of mounted police and a troop of Michigan National Guard Cavalry formed the escort for the marchers, and places of honor at the front of the column went to the Electric Post Band of Milwaukee and the Miami, Fla., Drum Corps, national champions in their respective fields.

As a gesture of respect to visitors from outside the United States, Legionnaires of the territories, Canada, Mexico and Europe followed close behind the automobiles which bore distinguished guests.

The state groups followed, with Michigan, as host bringing up the rear.

The Legionnaires marched sixteen abreast over the long route.

Won't Seek Bonus Payment?
Resolutions on prohibition, including some proposing a stand for modification and others asking a nation-wide referendum, were in the hands of the resolutions committee which was called to meet tonight. As a result of President Hoover's address yesterday, in which he discussed the condition of the national treasury, and of speeches by other leaders, including the national commander, Ralph T. O'Neill, officials today agreed that action for further payments on the veterans' bonus is extremely unlikely. Legion officials from all parts of the country told newspaper men they believe nothing further in the way of cash payments will be asked by the convention. A protest against the present interest rate of 4% per cent on bonus loans had strong support, however, including that of Commander O'Neill.

Apartment Collapses

Man Is Killed and Two Persons Are Buried Alive.

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—(P)—One man was crushed to death, another man and woman buried alive, and several other persons injured early today when a two story town apartment structure collapsed at 4309-11 Walnut street.

The dead man was George Mitchell, cafe proprietor.

Six hours after the buildings crashed into ruins rescuers reached the man and woman buried beneath tons of debris. Both were still alive and an hour later were removed from the wreckage to hospitals. Both were reported in a critical condition.

They are Miss Anna Bell, 24, a waitress, and George W. Jamison, 30, who might have escaped had he not returned to the crumbling house for a friend after rescuing his mother and sister.

From the time of the crash at 1:30 until they were discovered both Miss Bell and Jamison had retained consciousness. Both talked to rescuers and were able to direct their work.

Lightning and Wind Kill Five in Middle West

Electrical Storm Results in Three Deaths—Tornado Hits Missouri U.

Kansas City, Sept. 22.—(P)—Wind and electrical storms resulted in five deaths and an undetermined amount of property damage in scattered sections of the middle west and southwest late yesterday.

The disturbances, coming in the wake of heavy rains which broke an abnormal heat wave and drouth, appeared in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

Three of the deaths were caused by lightning which struck during a severe electrical storm over western Oklahoma. The victims were Oscar Bond, 35, and Elmer Patterson, 18, who were working at a wheat granary near Weatherford, and Leonard Swatzky, 17, who was herding cattle near Clinton.

A windstorm accounted for two deaths in southeastern Kansas. Clinton McKelvie, a farmer, was fatally injured when caught under a falling tree and James Holt, 17-year-old Oswego high school student was killed by a piece of flying timber.

Two Tornadoes Hit in Iowa—One Man Is Killed in Wisconsin

Chicago, Sept. 22.—(P)—One man was killed and a few persons were injured in storms that struck both Iowa and Wisconsin last night.

Hugh Whitford, of Milton Junction, Wis., met death when he and his mother attempted to get into the basement of their home to escape the fury of the wind. His mother was injured. Four other persons near Milton Junction were known to have been injured. Considerable property damage was done.

Iowa was the scene of two tornadoes. One of them, which swept across ten farms between Alnsworth and Gray-ville, in the southeastern part of the state, caused property damage estimated at 100,000. Two wagon loads of school children were in the path of the storm, but the driver of one un-oiled his group before the wind struck. The other took refuge in a shed, which was unroofed without harm to the children.

At Fairfield, Iowa, another tornado damaged farm buildings, but none was killed or injured.

No Money Need Be Spent Making School Floats

Rural schools of Nodaway county that are planning floats for the parade Saturday afternoon have been advised by William Burr, county superintendent of schools and chairman of school day, they need not spend much money in preparing the floats.

Many of the schools have felt they would not enter the parade because they would spend considerable in building the floats. Mr. Burr has advised all to hold down on the expenses.

Schools can use their school projects in preparing floats for the parade on Saturday, Mr. Burr said. One hundred and fifty dollars in prizes are offered in school day to the winning floats.

The floats will be assembled before the parade on the street south of the Franklin school.

Mr. Burr has written to the teachers in part about the floats:

"In decorating your floats let me suggest that you not spend more than two or three dollars. The floats will be judged upon the originality of ideas rather than the amount of decorating done. The representation of such ideas as, 'Under the Shade of the Old Apple Tree,' 'The Old Oaken Bucket,' 'The Old Woman in A Shoe,' and 'The Trail of the Forty-Niners,' make very fine floats. I offer these as merely suggestive ideas; there are many others."

R. C. A. Settles Anti-Trust Suits With Plaintiffs

Litigation Involving Forty-Seven Million Is Ended.

New York, Sept. 22.—(P)—The Radio Corporation of America announced today an understanding has been reached for settlement of anti-trust suits involving $47,000,000 in claims brought against it by 21 vacuum tube manufacturers not operating under license patents of the Radio Corporation.

The understanding is with reference to actions brought against the corporation charging violation of the Clayton act by reason of the so-called "clause line" license agreement between the radio corporation and radio receiving set manufacturers.

To Stabilize Industry
The settlement provides for the acquisition of R. C. A. patent licenses by active companies involved in the settlement including the De Forest Radio Co., Gold Seal Electrical Co., Arcturus Tube Co., Republic Radio Tube Co., and Diamond Radio Tube Co.

An announcement by attorneys for the De Forest Company said, "practically all important tube manufacturers will be licensed on equal terms under Radio Corporation patents with the result that the industry should rapidly become stabilized."

Follows Long Litigation
The suits have been pending for years. David Sarnoff, president of R. C. A., said their discontinuance "will enable the industry to devote more of its attention to the development of new products and new services for the public and should have a stimulating effect on business as a whole."

Several patent suits had been brought by R. C. A. against companies which used R. C. A. under the anti-trust law.

The claims against the R. C. A. in the anti-trust suits totaled roughly $47,000,000. Although no authoritative announcement was made on this point, it was understood in Wall Street that the cost of the settlement, including that of the rights R. C. A. obtained from the De Forest company was about $1,500,000 from all parties.
